» Index Description

- » The ISE-REVERE Natural Gas Index™ is comprised of exchange-listed companies that derive a substantial portion of their revenues from the exploration and production of natural gas.
- » The index is constructed by establishing the universe of U.S. listed stocks of companies involved in the exploration and production of natural gas. Companies whose natural gas proved reserves do not meet certain requirements are eliminated.
- » To meet index eligibility, a stock must also satisfy market capitalization, liquidity and weighting concentration requirements.
- » All qualified traditional C-Corporation and qualified Master Limited Partnership (MLP) stocks are ranked on both liquidity and market capitalization within their segments.
- » Weights within each segment are scaled so that the largest weight is a multiple of the smallest weight.
- » The index is optimized for liquidity and market capitalization at the component level.
- » The index is rebalanced on the application of the above model on a quarterly basis.

ETF Characteristics

The fund lists and principally trades its shares on the NYSE Arca, Inc.

The fund's return may not match the return of the ISE-REVERE Natural Gas Index™. Securities held by the fund will generally not be bought or sold in response to market fluctuations.

Investors buying or selling fund shares on the secondary market may incur customary brokerage commissions. Market prices may differ to some degree from the net asset value of the shares. Investors who sell fund shares may receive less than the share's net asset value. Shares may be sold throughout the day on the exchange through any brokerage account. However, unlike mutual funds, shares may only be redeemed directly from the fund by authorized participants, in very large creation/redemption units. If the fund's authorized participants are unable to proceed with creation/redemption orders and no other authorized participant is able to step forward to create or redeem, fund shares may trade at a discount to the fund's net asset value and possibly face delisting.

Risk Considerations

The fund's shares will change in value, and you could lose money by investing in the fund. One of the principal risks of investing in the fund is market risk. Market risk is the risk that a particular stock owned by the fund, fund shares or stocks in general may fall in value. There can be no assurance that the fund's investment objective will be achieved.

The fund may invest in securities issued by companies concentrated in a particular industry. The fund may invest in small capitalization and mid capitalization companies. Such companies may experience greater price volatility than larger, more established companies.

An investment in MLP units involves risks which differ from an investment in common stock of a corporation. Holders of MLP units have limited control and voting rights. In addition, there is the risk that a MLP could be taxed as a corporation, resulting in decreased returns from such MLP.

An investment in a fund containing securities of non-U.S. issuers is subject to additional risks, including currency fluctuations, political risks, withholding, the lack of adequate financial information, and exchange control restrictions impacting non-U.S. issuers. These risks may be heightened for securities of companies located in, or with significant operations in, emerging market countries. The fund may invest in depositary receipts which may be less liquid than the underlying shares in their primary trading market.

Companies in the natural gas industry are subject to certain risks, including price and supply fluctuations, increased interest rates, fuel prices which will vary with supply and demand factors including weather and general economic and political conditions, and prices of alternative fuels.
