Factoids for the week of April 5th - April 9th

Monday, April 5, 2010

In March, the dividend-payers (368) in the S&P 500 (equal weight) posted a total return of $6.70 \%$, vs. $8.61 \%$ for the non-payers (132), according to Standard & Poor's. Year-to-date through March, the payers were up 8.37\%, vs. a gain of $8.35 \%$ for the non-payers. For the 12-month period ended March '10, payers were up $73.46 \%$, vs. a gain of $85.84 \%$ for the non-payers. The number of dividend increases year-to-date totaled 70. That topped the 54 increases registered at this point in 2009. One company decreased its dividend, down from 40 at this point a year ago. One company suspended its dividend, down from six a year ago.

Tuesday, April 6, 2010

Approximately 7,000 publicly owned companies report dividend information to Standard & Poor's Dividend Record. In Q1'10, 48 companies decreased their dividend distributions - a significant improvement from the record 367 cuts in Q1'09, according to S&P. The number of companies that increased their dividend payouts totaled 399 - a noticeable improvement from the 283 increases registered in Q1'09, but well below the 740 hikes in Q1'07. Howard Silverblatt, Senior Index Analyst at S&P, believes the dividend recovery will be slow and that it will take until 2013 to return to the levels reached in 2007/2008.

Wednesday, April 7, 2010

The spread between the number of companies raising guidance this past earnings season versus those lowering guidance was at one of the highest levels in more than a decade, according to Bespoke Investment Group. Technology companies offered the most optimistic outlook. Twenty-one percent of tech companies raised guidance, while only $5 \%$ lowered guidance. Health Care and Consumer Discretionary were the only other sectors to see more than $10 \%$ of companies raise guidance.

Office vacancies just hit a 16-year high due to the elevated unemployment levels (9.7\%) in the U.S. While the 162,000 new jobs reported in March is encouraging (biggest monthly gain in three years), more than 6.5 million Americans have been out of work for six months or longer - a record high, according to The Washington Post. Approximately 700 million square feet, or $17.2 \%$, of the roughly 4 billion square feet of office space nationwide was unoccupied at the end of March, according to real estate research firm Reis. Commercial property prices are down 40.2\% from their October 2007 peak, according to Moody's/REAL All Property Type Aggregate Index. Prices, however, are only down about 10\%, on average, for those properties that kept their tenants.

Friday, April 9, 2010

MasterCard Advisors' SpendingPulse reported that online spending grew 18\% ( $y-0-y$ ) in March - the eighth consecutive month of double-digit growth, according to Forbes. In 2008, 41 of the 50 largest retail chains reported that e-commerce revenue grew as store sales declined, according to InternetRetailer.com. Online sales totaled $$ 155.2$ billion in 2009, or $6 \%$ of total retail sales, according to Forrester Research. It estimates that online sales will total $$ 229.8$ billion and account for $8 \%$ of total retail sales by the end of 2013.
