» Index Description

- » The NASDAQ AlphaDEX® Total US Market Index is an "enhanced" index created and administered by Nasdaq, Inc. ("Nasdaq") which employs the AlphaDEX® stock selection methodology to select stocks that meet certain criteria from three indices – the NASDAQ US Large Cap Index, the NASDAQ US Mid Cap Index and the NASDAQ US Small Cap Index.
- » Nasdaq constructs the NASDAQ AlphaDEX® Total US Market Index by ranking the eligible stocks within the three indices on growth factors including 3-, 6- and 12- month price appreciation, sales to price and one year sales growth, and separately on value factors including book value to price, cash flow to price and return on assets. All stocks are ranked within each size class (Large, Mid, or Small) on the sum of ranks for the growth factors and, separately, all stocks are ranked on the sum of ranks for the value factors. A stock must have data for all growth and/or value factors to receive a rank for that style.
- » Nasdaq classifies each stock as either a value stock or a growth stock and each stock receives its style rank from the previous step as its selection score.
- » The top 200 stocks from the NASDAQ US Large Cap Index (50% of the total portfolio), the top 400 stocks from the NASDAQ US Mid Cap Index (30% of the total portfolio) and the top 600 stocks from the NASDAQ US Small Cap Index (20% of the total portfolio) based on the selection score determined in the previous step comprise the "selected stocks".
- » The selected stocks are divided into quintiles within their size class based on their rankings and the top ranked quintiles receive a higher weight within each sub-portfolio (Large, Mid, and Small). Within each sub-portfolio, stocks are equally weighted within each quintile.
- » The index is reconstituted and rebalanced quarterly.
